SCUDER HOME BURNS IN COUNTRY

BLAZE BREAKS OUT UNDER ROOF AND HANSDOME HOUSE GOES TO ASHES.

The handsome country home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scudder in the country burned to the ground Tuesday afternoon about one o'clock, and a large part of the furniture and other household belongings was destroyed. The blaze, caught under the roof of the kitchen in some unknown way, when discovered, it was breaking out on the dry poplar shingles. A hard fight was made against it, but had already eaten its way under roof and there was no chance to get it out. The fighters then went to work to save what furniture they could, but the flames had gained such a foothold that but little could be gotten out before the roof and walls fell in, and made further work impossible.

Mr. Scudder valued the house at $5,000. It was a fine old structure, the old Engleman home, on the cut-off pike between the Shelby City and Danville pikes. He had just advertised it with his farm for sale, and will hold the sale notwithstanding the loss of the house, for the farm is a valuable one. Mr. Scudder carried $2,500 insurance on the house and furnishings, which will help some.

We had the greater part of the insurance on the above house and you will find the safest protection and best insurance in the companies represented by W. S. Fish, of Stanford.

A Mother in Israel

PASSES TO FINAL REWARD AFTER LONG LIFE.

Mrs. Sara Dunn Bright wife of Mr. John Bright passed away at their home on Danville avenue Thursday night after a lingering illness. With her at the time were her husband and nearly all of her large family of children, who were prepared for the shock but were bowed down in sorrow now that their best friend is no more.

Mr. Bright would have been 75 years of age in December, and for 58 years had been a faithful member of the Christian church in which she was a mother in Israel. She was married to Mr. Bright in 1856, and to them six children were born W. M. Bright of this city, John Bright, Jr., of Somerset, Uriah Bright, of this city and Misses Lizzie, Mary and Maggie.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home on Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock by Rev. Joseph Ballou, after which the remains of the good woman will be laid to final rest in Buffalo cemetery.

This property is on Main street in a good business town, and the lot contains about two acres of land. Will sell at whole. She also developed the dominant thought of this year's course democracy and the brotherhood of man. State Senator J. J. Watkins of Union county, died at his home last week of gastritis after a short illness. He was a prominent Knight of Pythias and member of other orders, and had announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for State Superintendent of Schools. Senator Watkins led the fight in the last Senate for the county unit bill and caused a big stir during the session by his statement that a number of the members had received consideration for violating their pledges to vote for the bill.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

For Circuit Judge

The Interior Journal is authorized to announce Charles A. Hardin as a candidate for Circuit Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial district, at the election to be held November, 1911, subject to the action of the Democratic Party.

Unable to get a decent Kentucky newspaper to fatten its scurrilous stuff the junta which is moving heaven and earth to defeat Senator McCreary for the democratic gubernatorial nomination next year, is sending out a printed sheet styled "The Parisian," dated Paris, Tennessee, which seeks to show that McCreary was duped into making the race for Governor through a deal with former Governor Beckham and General Percy Haly, and that Rufus Van Sant, of Ashland who, the sheet says, will be a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, will be the real man at the helm.

The bastard sheet, bears the earmarks of the press bureau of a certain other candidate for governor, who sees himself completely left at the post, and as might have been expected from the company of professional politicians he consorts with, hesitate at nothing in seeking to injure the chances of one every way his superior. A strange thing about it, is that while dated in Paris, Tennessee, the post mark on the envelope in which it is sent, is Newport, Ky., while the union label on the sheet shows it to have been printed in Louisville; so it seems that the best lying talent in three cities must have been exercised to produce this document.

Senator McCreary's attention was called to Lexington last week, and he said about it:

I have not seen or communicated with Governor Beckham in a number of months. When I delivered by invitation an address at Frankfort, Ky., last February at the unveiling and dedication of the Goebel monument, I met Governor Beckham for a few moments in the opera house. He has never announced according to my information, who he will support for Governor, and I have no means of knowing his position on any question relating to the race for Governor. I may say the same with regard to Percy Haly. I have seen him only a few times in months and he has not told me who he will support for any state office. I have heard Rufus Van Sant say he would not be a candidate for Governor or for any other office.

In this connection I wish to say I want and I will seek the support of all democrats. No candidate for a state office can be elected unless he has the cordial support of practically all the democrats in Kentucky. The Democratic majority in Kentucky is small and we lost the state at the last election of the state officers by about eighteen thousand votes.

I wish to say also that I have made no alliance with any candidate or with any individual in connection with my race for governor.

The same circular seeks to injure me by misrepresenting my age, and making me four years older than I am. I was born July 8 1838, and every Congressional directory for the eighteen years I was in the House of Representatives and in the Senate states the time of my birth as herein stated. I am enjoying excellent health and am as robust as I have ever been, and I am as able as I ever was in my life to discharge the duties of the office of Governor.

The success of the Democratic party is paramount to my own success. If I did not believe I would be elected, if nominated, and I did not believe I am able to discharge the duties of the office of Governor promptly and efficiently, I would not be a candidate.

In the present campaign I have made a number of speeches in behalf of Democratic candidates for Congress, and in the Tenth Congressional District I spoke both in the afternoon and at night.

The depravity of the author of the circular is further shown by the statement that Mervin Parent, who was Assistant Adjutant General under Haly, is now an active person at McCreary's headquarters at Richmond, Ky. Mr. Parent I suppose is a worthy democrat, but I am not acquainted with him and he was never in my office or in my headquarters. Other statements equally as false as those to which I have referred are in the anonymous article, but they are not worthy of notice except it is proper to say in response to a misrepresentation, I was not in Frankfort during the session of the Legislature in 1908, and not a candidate for any office.

It is difficult to believe any candidate for the nomination for Governor is connected with the publication of the article to which I have referred, or responsible for its circulation, but all know it costs a considerable amount of money to flood the state with such documents.

LION FONDLES A CHILD
In Pittsburg a savage lion fondled the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is something great when least regarded. Often it comes through colds, croup and whooping cough. They slay thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. "A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of 'croup,'" writes Mrs. George B. Davis, Flat Rock, N. C. "We always give it to him when he takes cold. It's a wonderful medicine for babies." Best for Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Asthma, Hemorrhages, weak lungs. 50 cents a thial bottle free. Guaranteed by Penny's Drug Store.

The subject for this sketch was born in Pulaski county, September, 4 1832. His parents moved to Lincoln county when he was a small boy and spent his long life in the Preachersville section. I will say he had his faults, but his virtues were worthy of our emulation. He was married to Miss Mary Harp in 1854 and there were born eleven children to bless their union, eight of whom are still living. He and his wife attended a protracted meeting at Crab Orchard conducted by Moses Foley, in 1855, walking a distance of four miles each day. They both professed faith in Christ and were baptized by that noble old Baptist divine, in Dix river, soon afterwards they moved their membership to old Drake's Creek church where they lived a consistent Christian life up to their deaths and died in the full triumphs of Heaven and immortal glory. I want to say I never knew a man more faithful, more loyal, or one who filled his place in the church as regularly as he did.

Lesson Text—Matthew 24:32-51. Memory verse 44. Golden Text—"Watch and Pray, that ye enter not into temptation."—Matt.
24:44.

The disciples had accepted Jesus as the Messiah and chosen the way which led to the establishment of the Kingdom of God. But they were in the meantime to endure great temptations and difficulties; wars, famines, tribulations, hatred, prisons, death, disasters, earthquakes, pestilences, disciplines waxing cold, false prophets arising, stars falling, the sun darkened, the moon turned into blood, the powers of heaven shaken, "such as had not been from the beginning of the world"—then, Christ says to his disciples, "when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh; it is near even at the doors." And he also adds, "Watch therefore: Be ye also ready. For ye know not on what day your Lord cometh.

The parable of the fig tree is a beautiful illustration showing us that while we cannot know when Christ is coming, we have warnings so as to be on guard, as the first signs of spring bid us prepare for the summer. This generation, that is while some who were listening to him should still be alive, as he himself said.

The time to watch is at the beginning of the course that leads to these results. The day of judgment is the end of the course; the choice lies at the beginning.

Those really watched who so fore-saw the future and the true ideal of their lives, that from the beginning they went on toward it by the only path that led to it. They were faithful in every duty. They served their Lord by obedience. They resisted every temptation. They were on their guard against every wile of the devil. They were wide awake, with eyes open to every opportunity, to the signs of the times, to new ways and means, and possibilities.

"Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing. Verily I say unto you, That he shall make him ruler over all his goods." To those who so watched was entrusted the kingdom of heaven, for themselves and for the world.

Those failed to watch who were so absorbed in their own selfish pleasures and gains that they neglected their duties, forgot their Master's interests, were eye-servants. This folly was intensified by beginning "to eat and drink with the drunken." They took the road that led to destruction.

Rev. S. W. Hanks, a second or third cousin of Abraham Lincoln, years ago devised a most vivid temperance lecture called "The Black Valley Railroad," which he illustrated by a large chart. It is given in a book called "The Crystal River."

The Land of the Crystal River is the land which all children enter when they come into this world.

To live in the Land of the Crystal River, the land of temperance, of self-control, of good character, of highest usefulness, of prosperity, of religion, of heaven, should be the hope and the aim of everyone.

The Black Valley country is situated in an extensive lowland, lying between an elevated and extremely fertile and beautiful region, called the Land of the Crystal River, bounding it upon its upper limits and a vast and unexplored desert forming its lower boundary. Vice and crime abound. Numerous drunkards and criminals are found there. Prisons and poor houses take the place of churches and school houses.

The man in the conning tower at the junction of the Black Valley railroad road with the railroad to temperance, would guide all youthful travelers to the better way. He urges all to seek the highest and best life.

We are building a house for ourselves, a body in which we must live, and a character in which our soul must abide. God would have us possess a perfect body, and to put away everything which injures health, which brings weakness or disease. He would have us form a noble character of which we will not be ashamed, which will fit us for heaven and usefulness, and the company of the good. We cannot cheat God, but we can cheat ourselves. By using strong drink in any quantity whatever we are skimping, degrading, making poor and weak the house we have got to live in.

Every drunkard was once an innocent child. Every one was first a moderate drinker. No one ever yet became a drunkard who refused to touch intoxicating drink. Not all who drink moderately do become drunkards, but no one ever became a drunkard who did not first drink moderately.

It is terrible to let a habit begin in youth which will impel us to go on doing wrong against reason, against the power to help others, against love of God, of man, and of country.

The story is told of a rich young man who sat at a dinner table with a number of friends, and babbled drunken foolishness all the long evening. One of his friends was a court stenographer. Seized by an idea for the help of his friend, he stenographically reported every word that the latter uttered. The next day he had these notes transcribed and sent to the man himself. The latter, shocked, could scarcely believe that he himself had descended to such a level of imbecility. If this is the way a man talks when he is drunk, I mean to keep sober.
